Man Identified as Bank Robber Leads Officers to Cache

$7,229 of $12,900 Stolen at Hartman, Arkansas Is Recovered

ONE BANDIT CAUGHT

Search for Second Robber Continued in Arkansas and Oklahoma

CLARKSVILLE, Ark.—(AP)—Directed to a hiding place by a man captured late Thursday afternoon and identified as one of the robbers who robbed the Bank of Hartman, officers Friday found $7,229 of the loot under a stone covered with leaves in the woods near Ozark.

The prisoner who gave his name as Dean Owens, alias Albert Hall of Oklahoma, was brought to jail here. Officers continued a search for the other robber, who was said by Owens to be from Vinila, Okla.

Several Shots Exchanged

The suspect, arrested after several shots were exchanged with a pursuing posse, gave his name as Albert Hall, and also as Jean Owens, of Park Hill, Cherokee county, Oklahoma.

Two robbers escaped in a light car with $12,900, after forcing Buster Thompson, the bank's assistant cashier to accompany them. They let him out of the car at Altus.

Pursued by officers from Hartman, the robbers abandoned the car on the outskirts of Ozark when it careened into a ditch. They fled on foot into the nearby hills with officers and citizens close behind.

W. T. Thompson, cashier of the bank, and brother of Buster Thompson, identified the man arrested as one of the robbers. Hall is being held in the jail here. Officers said he probably would be taken to Clarksville, county seat of Johnson county, in which Hartman is located, Thursday night or Friday.

The robbers, described as being about 25 years old and roughly dressed, entered the bank at 10:30 a. m. Both were unarmed. One carried a rifle and the other a pistol.

The cashier and a customer, Sam Douthett, were ordered to lie on the floor while the assistant cashier was forced to get the money from the vault.

Many Specialists In Ouachita Band

Organization Will Play Concert at City Hall Here Friday Night

The members of the Ouachita College Military band which will appear in concert here Friday night are each specialists with the instrument they nominally play in the band. Nine of the sections are the 2 flat Alto group, which are commonly known as the "pecks." There is a queer but true story connected with these boys. At the beginning of the year only one regular alto player reported for the first rehearsal. Something had to be done. Mr. Biles, the director, looked over his band. He picked three men to go with the one "horn" player he had. Each of these boys were picked from a different section, one played solo trumpet, another tenor saxophone, and the other baritone. Now this section is one of the best in the band and can hold its own with any similar section in the state.

Besides being specialists in their respective groups many of the members are quite versatile. Two are outstanding for their ability to play several instruments. Roger Dollarhide, a sophomore, is also trumpeter on "My Old Kentucky Home," a beautiful selection written in three variations. He plays saxophone and clarinet with the orchestra and is a student of violin and of piano in the school of music. Raymond Culp, a junior, is the other boy. He is also a trumpet soloist. He plays the alto in the Ouachita Little Symphony and is a student of piano and the organ in the school of music. Both boys have composed several numbers. The piano solo, "Selah," is Mr. Culp's own composition. As a theme for the selection he used the twenty-fourth Psalm. It is truly a work of art.

Overstreet Tells What Dictator in America Would Do

People, Losing Interest in Government, Are Endangering Their Liberties

ABUSES ARE LOCAL

Waste of Public Funds Must Be Corrected First in Local Government

How far the United States has strayed away from the original American policy of using the government to make this a pleasant and secure country in which to live, was shown Hope Rotary club Friday at Hotel Barlow in a stirring address by C. A. Overstreet, president of Magnolia A. & M. college.

Under the topic "If I Were King What I Would Do to Fix It," Mr. Overstreet discussed humorously the opportunities for service a dictator would find in America today, concluding with a serious study of the evils into which local and federal government have fallen.

"The average man," he said, "doesn't give enough time to studying his government to vote intelligently."

"Here is one of the things we stand for in local government. A pair of negroes plead guilty to a $1 theft. The county and state spend $125 in prosecution fees, court costs, and transportation to the penitentiary, where their labor involves an additional deficit—and then the negroes are returned home after two years no better citizens than when they left."

"The county and state have thrown away $125—enough money to provide schooling for a negro child for an entire month."

"We're always looking at the top of the tree instead of the roots, for trouble."

"If we are going to wait for some governor or senator to remedy matters for us, then we are going to wait forever. Our only sure relief lies here at home."

Grand Jury Probes Assault on Officer

Five Held in Attack at Mena Waive Preliminary Hearing

MENA, Ark.—Preliminary hearings for Reeves, Vaughan and Harper, were held in Justice S. H. Smith's court Wednesday, and they were bound over to await action by the April grand jury. The five young men, all residents of Mena, are accused of attacking Will Harris, night policeman, on the night of December 29. Harris was so severely beaten he has not been able to appear in court earlier.

Reeves, Vaughan and Harper, were captured in Pike county two days after the affray, and Hall and Vaughan later surrendered. The men are accused of criminal conspiracy, and assault with intent to kill. Dwight Johnson, manager of the P. and M. Cafe, where the attack upon the officer took place, also arrested for conspiracy, also waived examination and was bound over. Prosecuting Attorney J. M. Jackson was in Mena to direct the hearings.

Monts to Handle Chicks This Year

Revival in Poultry Anticipated With Stock of Fanciers' Supplies

In an attempt to interest farmers in this trade territory in the raising of poultry, Monts Seed store will start next week handling baby chicks and poultry supplies.

"We find that only a small percentage of neighboring farmers raise chickens," Clyde Monts said Friday. "When this crop has been one of the most profitable during the past two years. We have found many farmers who have purchased most of the food for their families through the sale of chickens and eggs. However, great numbers of them are no longer raising poultry. We believe many intend to start flocks this spring, and that is why we are now carrying poultry supplies."

The seed store is to handle only chicks from accredited flocks.

Buildings In Flames and Japanese Wounded at Shanghai

Crashing bombs from hawk-eyed Japanese war planes touched off a blaze in the International Settlement as shown in this exclusive telephoto taken while the Japanese invaders were making their first thrust for control of Shanghai. High explosive bombs struck the Odeon theater, (right center), famous playhouse of the Orient, in the heart of a teeming business area. Photo shows machine gunners of the Japanese marines crouched behind their sandbag barricades while officers survey the start of the conflagration that caused millions of dollars in damage to tight-packed blocks of the northern Shanghai district.

New York Broker's Wife Seeks Divorce

Mrs. Finger, at El Dorado, Denies She Will Marry Harry K. Thaw

EL DORADO.—Walter Winchell, radio commentator on the National Broadcasting Company System Thursday night referred to a woman named Marjorie, who is in El Dorado seeking a divorce from her husband, so that she can marry Harry K. Thaw. It is believed here that he referred to Mrs. Marjorie Finger, wife of John Welch Finger, New York broker who came here Monday to establish a residence and secure a divorce under Arkansas' 90-day divorce law.

Mrs. Finger, when informed of Winchell's remark, said Winchell had "been after" her for some time. She also said she would sue Winchell for connecting her with Thaw, whom she denied knowing.

Mrs. Finger told the Gazette correspondent that she intended to marry Luis de Aguirre, duke of Bilbao, at St. Pauls chapel, London, England, as soon as she secured her divorce. She said she met the duke at the debutante ball of Miss Virginia Willys, daughter of John R. Willys, automobile manufacturer and ambassador to Poland, in New York. De Aguirre later married Miss Willys, but recently was divorced in Paris.

Mrs. Finger exhibited several photographs, which she said were of the duke. She said she came to El Dorado in preference to Hope Springs or Reno, to escape publicity.

CIVILIANS TAKEN OUT

Chinese War Lord on Way to Shanghai With Additional Troops

(By Associated Press)

Two powerful armies waited in Shanghai to go into battle Saturday morning, but the Chinese rejected the ultimatum to withdraw their troops from the city.

The ultimatum was issued Thursday morning by the Chinese government, demanding that the Japanese withdraw their troops from the city of Shanghai, unless the Japanese agreed to do the same.

"American infantrymen," who were on duty near the city of Shanghai, were ordered to leave the city Saturday morning.

The Japanese government, which had rejected the ultimatum, said it would not be moved from its position.

Garland City Area Menaced by Floods

Expect Dike to Cave in If Red River Goes Much Higher

TEXARKANA.—Drops of a collapse in the levee here, threatening eight miles south of Garland City, were seen by residents in that section Thursday, as the river continued its steady rise.

R. A. Hall, electric engineer, visited the scene of the danger Thursday afternoon to learn the exact situation confronting persons living in the vicinity.

Charles Beasley, of Garland City, said Thursday afternoon that the river bank had caved during recent high water to almost the edge of the levee.

The present dangerous area extends for about 200 feet along the base of the levee.

Should the river continue its steady rise for several more days, the levee undoubtedly would collapse and a wide area of cultivated land would be inundated, residents said.

Adding to the danger, the bank has begun caving again and a much wider area probably will result in an increasing hazard to the levee.

A run-around, or auxiliary levee, is expected to be constructed immediately behind the present levee to offset the danger.

Readings at Garland City Thursday afternoon revealed a stage of about 26 feet, two feet below flood stage. The river is expected to reach 31 feet by Monday.

Secretary of War Hurley, appearing before a Senate committee the other day, made the following remark about independence:

"I believe the responsibilities assumed by the United States when it destroyed the sovereignty of Spain have not been fulfilled, and that the independence of the Philippines should be given when certain conditions have been performed."

"The first clause of that remark that deserves a little thought is what are those responsibilities? The United States took the Philippines by force, and we took them because somebody at Washington decided that it would be nice to have some island possessions in the Orient. We were fighting Spain—ostensibly, anyhow—to free Cuba, and the way in which kicking the Spaniard out of the Philippines helped to set the Cubans free is something no one has ever explained satisfactorily."

"The Philippines didn't want us at the time. We had no business going near them, once Dewey had sunk the Spanish Asiatic fleet. In order to possess the islands we had to fight the native inhabitants a lot harder than we had to fight the Spaniards. And after gaining possession, we promised solemnly that we would give them their independence."

Passenger Parachutes?
 A bill was introduced in Congress the other day which would require all air transport lines to provide parachutes for every passenger, much as steamship lines are required to provide life-preservers; and, as might be expected, it has stirred up a good deal of argument on both sides.

In theory, perhaps, the idea is a good one. Any transport company certainly is under a moral obligation to do everything it can to ensure the safety of its patrons. But, as officials of the transport companies have been pointing out, there are plenty of obstacles in the way of this measure.

In most airplane crashes there would not be time for all the passengers to jump to safety even if they did have parachutes. Novices might operate their chutes correctly, if they did manage to jump in time, and they might not. Besides, the expense of providing parachutes for everybody would put most air transport companies out of business.

Note That Exception
 A further proof that the counties in Arkansas which are bankrupt are probably victims of mismanagement, comes a story from Lee county which we are glad to note. We knew that our own county of Garland was an exception to bankrupt county government, and we later learned that little Chicot county was all right financially.

But now comes a Lee county citizen who tells that some years ago that that county selected a young man for county judge, when script was 40 cents on the dollar, and that since that time the county has built and paid for county buildings, and that "a Lee county warrant is equal to a bank check."

Perhaps there are other counties in Arkansas that are not hard pressed financially. Or may be hard pressed, but still on a cash basis, and county warrants equal to a bank check.

This comparison is interesting because there are counties in the state which cannot properly function in court matters because there is no money to pay the expense of courts. A terrible situation.

All of which suggests also that what can be done with county government can be done with state government. It is not impossible. The state is so heavily involved that it would take years to work things out, but the start could be made.

We are glad to acknowledge the situation in Lee county as it is presented by one of her citizens. It must be as gratifying to Lee county property owners as to property owners in Garland and in Chicot counties. Warrants worth dollar for dollar, and no waste or lost motion in county purchases because of depreciated script.—Hot Springs Sentinel-Record.

But with all the federal, patriotic and civic bodies at work to restore normal business and with business itself showing signs of a revival, it would seem that the turning point has surely been reached that economic recovery has been made a fact.

Paul Young and His Mother Face Charges
 SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — Officers Thursday night announced that warrants charging Paul Young and his mother, Mrs. Willie Young, with auto theft, have been sent to Houston, Tex., and Houston officers asked to arrest the pair.

Paul and his mother allegedly were members of the auto theft ring operated by Harry and Jennings Young, brothers who murdered six Springfield officers and shot each other to death in Houston rather than to submit to arrest.

It was said that Mrs. Young, free on bond pending trial here on motor theft charges, had been advised by her attorney to surrender and return here.

Thank God for the night of it —
The ardor, the urge, the delight of it.
Work that springs from mite heart's desire.
Setting the brain and soul on fire,
Oh, what is so good as the heat of it,
And what is so glad as the beat of it?
And what is so kind as the stern command,
Challenging brain and heart and hand?
Work, the Titan, work, the Friend,
Shaping the earth to a glorious end,
Draining the swamps and blasting the hills.
Doing whatever the Spirit wills—
Rending a continent apart
To answer the dream of the master heart.
Thank God for a world where none may shrink;
Thank God for the splendor of work!

College Girls "Mind Their Knitting"—for Jobless

Scenes reminiscent of war days, when the "home folks" knitted for the boys at the front, are pictured here as Wellesley College girls make clothes for the army of the unemployed. Upper left, you see Grace Beezley, (left) of Chicago and Jessie Haig of Belmont, Mass., turned dressmakers in the interests of the jobless. Other girls are "minding their knitting," and at right Helen Klintrup of Mountain Lakes, N. J., is knitting a sweater, while, below, the fast flying needles of Nancy Fitzwilliams (left) of Cambridge, Mass., Jane Griswold (center) of Coatesville, Pa., and Arcee Lambert, also of Coatesville, are fashioning stockings and gloves for the unemployed in their home communities.

Blevins Hornets Win Championship

Eight Players Participate in Events at Hope Friday and Saturday

By School Reporter O. M. S.

The Blevins Hornets proved their ability to sting by defeating every opponent they met in the Hempstead County Basketball Tournament in the Hope High School gymnasium Friday and Saturday nights.

The Hornets got a late start in basketball, having played only four games prior to the tournament, and were rated as having one of the poorest teams in the county. Due to the excellent leadership of Supt. J. Glenn Coker, himself possessor of an enviable college career in basketball and other athletics, and to the players' courage, sportsmanship, and the ability to fight to the end, the Hornets were able to overcome these disadvantages and fight their way to the top. Practicing only on dry days during an extremely rainy season because of the lack of a gymnasium the Hornets were able to show only the minimum of the skill which they really possess. Even this served to send the Columbus Tigers down to their first championship defeat in years, and to win the handsome trophy to decorate the new Blevins High School building.

The eight Blevins players participating in the tournament were Captain Guy Lee, Harold Husky, Willie Stone, Gerald Sheffield, Hubert Hile, Chester Dawson, Chester Stephens and Carner Wardlow. Lee was elected center on the all-county team and Sheffield polled several votes.

The Hornets played their first game Friday and easily defeated Guernsey by a score of 26 to 10. There were no individual stars in this game or in any of the others. All of the players saw action and at no time did any player demonstrate the selfish desire to be an individual star but displayed excellent teamwork throughout the contest. Husky and Stone won the high score honors with Lee in close pursuit.

Hardest opposition as the hands of the strong Patmos team, runner-up in the tournament. After thirty-two minutes of hard fighting Blevins came out with the heavy end of the 16 to 15 score. Throughout the game Blevins held a bare lead, several times only one point or two more than six. Hile and Stone won high score honors. Hile accounted for 6 points and Stone 5. Lee and Husky usually held scoring honors but the excellent Patmos defense held them to low scores even though they played well. Sheffield's performance at guard was unsurpassed during the entire tournament. Duke was the outstanding player for Patmos in both defense and offense.

The final and decisive battle was fought Saturday night between Blevins and Columbus. Winning the county championship has been habitual with Columbus for years and they presented a strong team this year. Blevins came through triumphant with a 17 to 13 score. Husky and Hile divided high score honors with points each they played well. Sheffield's performance at guard was unsurpassed during the entire tournament. Duke was the outstanding player for Patmos in both defense and offense.

Bogalusa Admitted to Cotton States League

VICKSBURG, Miss.—(AP)—The admission of Bogalusa, La., to membership in the Cotton States league, and the tentative setting of Tuesday, May 3 for the opening date, with a playing schedule calling for 120 games were high spots in the meeting of the league directors here Thursday with President Frank A. Scott.

Bogalusa takes the place of Jackson, Miss., which withdrew to enter the Southeastern league.

Port Arthur, Tex., filed an application for a franchise in the Cotton States, but no action was taken on the request, due to the distance of Port Arthur from other cities in the loop.

El Dorado, Ark., a member last year, was not represented, but President Scott received a telegram from R. E. Meiner, president of the club in which he said local interests had already started to work in an effort to retain their franchise.

"Germany is already disarmed," Ambassador Nodolny said, "and German disarmament must be considered indicative of the disposition the disarmament of all other members of the league must follow."

Second Trial of Fulton Green On

State Completes Testimony in Bank Robbery at De Queen

DEQUEEN —(AP)— State testimony was completed late Thursday in the second trial within a week of Fulton Green, charged with the robbery of the Bank of Horatio at Horatio last April.

All witnesses not required for rebuttal testimony were discharged as an economy measure in preference to a night session.

Constable John Burnett, a new state witness, described the gun battle between the outlaws and officers while their cars were traveling 50 or 60 miles an hour.

The state sought to prove that Green could not have been at the home of former Sheriff Roy Hoopes at the time other witnesses said he was there.

In the previous trial, defense witnesses told of seeing Green at Hoopes' home about noon, while the bank robbery was placed at 11:15 a. m.
